Register today for AIC's 2017 Conference - April 24-26, 2017, in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Early bird rates are available until January 27, 2017.

This year's theme is Agricultural Innovation in a Changing Environment. Click here to learn more!

The conference will foster important discussions among policy makers, industry stakeholders, entrepreneurs and the research community about agriculture's impact on the environment in a changing climate. AIC 2017 will also showcase world-class innovative research taking place across Canada and explore how green growth in the sector can build on a strong scientific, evidence-based foundation.

The AIC 2017 Conference will cover three themes addressing agricultural innovation in a changing environment - and each will feature interesting and thought-provoking discussions:

- Transforming Challenges into Opportunities: How can innovation minimize agriculture's contribution to climate change?
- Building the Future on our Strengths: What support is available to advance Canada's agricultural clean technologies?
- Shaping a Path Forward: How can we ensure the adoption of environmentally sustainable innovations?
