Food Series Virtual Programming Sponsored by Viterra

At Viterra, we've been helping farmers feed the world for over 100 years. We are passionate about agriculture and the amazing people who are part of this great industry. Agriculture is one of our most important industries, and Canada is a world leading exporter of grains, oilseeds and pulses.

That's why we think it's essential for our youth to understand the importance of agriculture and where their food comes from. By partnering with organizations like 4-H, our goal is to create long-lasting relationships between our youth and agriculture. Access to educational opportunities through hands-on learning, combined with high quality programs and resources, are great ways to share our story and ensure that future generations feel connected to agriculture and its significant impact in our daily lives.
